Message from Jeanette

It is a privilege to work with people who are dying and although I do not visit clients I am working with staff and volunteers who are fully committed to supporting every client in the best way possible.

I believe our community is becoming more aware of our services and understand that people can be supported at home and they can die well at home if that is their wish. I believe this change has accelerated because of COVID – as now so many people do not want to go to hospital.

In 2008/09, when I started, we had 1088 new clients that year. In 2020/21 we had 1696 new clients. As part of this significant growth, our full-time equivalent staff has risen from 55 in 2007/08 to now 89 in 2020/21.

We are a larger more complex organisation. We are vitally important to our community so people can choose to be cared for and to die at home.

We remain fully accredited with the Australian Council on Health Care Standards. The standards we are measured against have risen during my time and I see these changes as being vital to supporting our community.

EPC is an amazing organisation and I am heartened by the progress and the reputation that we have in the community. It is with some sadness that I have announced my retirement. I will be leaving EPC in July or August, when the new CEO commences. When I reflect on the last 14 years or so I am astounded at the changes and the progress we have made.

We now have a Consumer Advisory Committee that links us directly with those who have used our services. We will not get everything right with every person but I know from the cards and letters we receive that we are listening and supporting our community with wonderful services that extend for 13 months into the bereavement time.

The opportunity now is to remain responsive to our community and best practice community palliative care. I do not do this job alone. The staff are our biggest asset. Clinical staff know and understand the work that is required when someone is dying. Our volunteers are vital to our work and they are connected with clients and carers in the most precious ways. Our administrative staff work so well in supporting our clinical staff – we could not manage without them. Staff and volunteers regardless of their role all belong to the one Team – that is EPC.

I also need to thank all our external community supporters – where would we be without you. From donors, to businesses that support EPC each time we ask for help – you too are all part of the great organisation that is EPC.

I thank the EPC Committee of Management for valuing me and for the opportunities they have provided. I wish the organisation continued success into the future.

Jeanette Moody
CEO, EPC

Jeanette has been our leader for more than 14 years and will be sorely missed. On behalf of the staff and volunteers, I thank her for all she has done for EPC. Her leadership has brought us to the wonderful place we are today, as a vital service for our community.

Introducing EPC's Stay at Home Appeal

Pound the Pavement 4 EPC is raising funds for our EPC's Stay at Home Appeal. This Appeal will help cover the cost of specialist services which assist EPC clients receive care at home for as long as possible if that is their wish.

There are many things that help to assist people to stay at home and sometimes these are critical and urgent and need to be acted on quickly.

Over the last 2 years, demand for EPC's services has increased at a higher rate than our government funding. EPC's 'Stay at Home Appeal' will assist to fill that funding gap.

You can donate to this appeal in one of the following ways:

- Fill out the donation form in this newsletter and post, email or SMS back to EPC

EPC's 2022 Online Auction breaks its record!

We are thrilled to announce that we beat our target and raised $8,350 from EPC's 2022 Online Auction! This is a higher amount than what was raised in our first ever Online Auction in 2020 - $8,200

Congratulations to everyone who placed a winning bid, and thank you to those that bid on the items. We could not have held this event without the support of all of the amazing local businesses below who generously donated all the items for the auction. 100% of all auction items were donated by these groups.

Thank you to those that shared, liked and/or commented on our social media posts about the auction. We also really appreciate those that made a donation on the Online Auction page. Do you need to make a Will?

Here is an easy and inexpensive way...

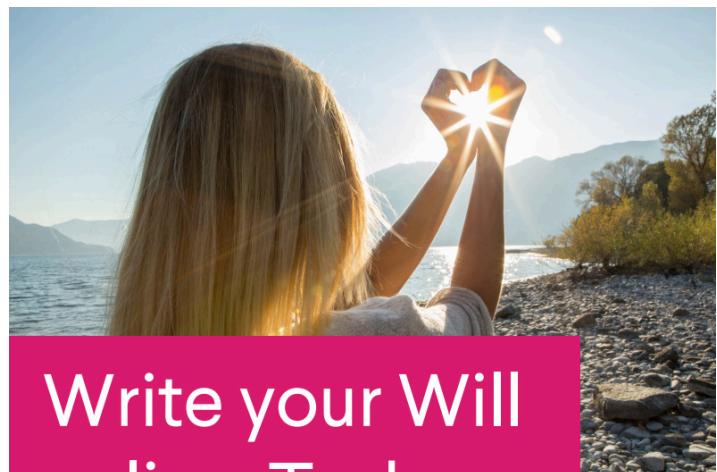

Wills have traditionally been too expensive or complicated for most people. Only those who had the time and money to see an expensive lawyer could get a Will and protect their family. But Wills were meant for everyone.

That is why EPC has teamed up with Safewill who are on a mission to make Wills affordable and easy enough for everyone to safeguard their life's work. Their team is passionate about combining detailed legal knowledge with modern technology, to change the way that all Australians think about Will writing.

Their modern approach to Wills means that you can start, complete, and update your bespoke Will anytime, anywhere. No lawyers fees, no hidden costs, no appointments. Just smart Wills for modern life.

If you are ready to write your Will, visit epc.asn.au/donate to read about how it works and start writing anytime you are ready.

To find out more you can also visit safewill.com.
